Attendee Testimonials

The following testimonials were given in response to the survey question which asked "In what specific ways were you encouraged or challenged?"

"I received hope for our country's large cities and challenged in particular about the mission field that is coming to us in such a major way." - Linda Hendrickson, WI/North Michigan Assemblies of God (Waupaca, WI)

"It was inspiring to feel unified across a great diversity of people, ministries, foci and purpose. It challenged me as we continue to move in that direction and seek unity, allowing the message of the Gospel solely to define us." - Amilee Watkins, Center for Faith and Work (New York, NY)

"I was encouraged by the notion that we can get interdenominational collaboration and together develop ecosystems in cities for Gospel Movements." - Allen Likkel, Christian Reformed Home Missions (Grand Rapids, MI)

"I realize that I have a lot of work to do in order to make a difference. I was encouraged by the vast array of people from all over who attended as well as their participation. A good place to network." - Anthony Heyward, New York University (Bronx, NY)

"We need to reach the cities of this country in much larger ways, especially those who will never enter a church building." - Anastasia Turner, Campus Crusade for Christ (Philadelphia, PA)

"I was encouraged to see the momentum of this conference was not just about strategy, but a focus on church unity, and that movement will not happen by slick campaigns or programs, but by prayer and the power of the Holy Spirit coming upon us." - Ken Blish, Metro NY Church of the Nazarene (Valley Stream, NY)

"I see a vision of the fabric of the church to come together in a missional way to reach the city." - Glenn Reph, World Vision (Seattle, WA)

"I was encouraged by the diversity of the gathering and the emphasis and conviction on prayer. I was challenged by the vision for city transformation and the realities that must be present to see it happen." - Jeff Warren, Park Cities Baptist Church (Dallas, TX)

"The messages and teachings inspired me to keep focused on what is most important. I left energized and recommitted to trying an interdenominational prayer emphasis once again. Previous attempts did not work, but I am reminded of the power of that unity." - Nancy Smith, New Paltz Church of the Nazarene (New Paltz, NY)
